

The Sinclair matter is an outrageous example of a powerful media corporation abusing its ownership privileges. One of the primary reasons for the existence of the FCC is to monitor, and prohibit, just such abuses of power. It is my expectation, and that of innumerable other responsible Americans, that the FCC will take action to make sure the power of media conglomerates is held in check, especially in these days leading up to the election.

Please honor your duty to all the people and stand up to Sinclair on this issue. Thank you. John H. Bergland
